“ Trisha , I had the best fun knowing you , and I bet we have fun again...I do believe it . We live so many different lives in one lifetime , it's amazing . We were young girls , young women , young mothers and wives , young wives again , always mother, then ahh...grandmother ! Quite wonderful..wouldn't have done it any differently . Love and laughter...you had plenty , and some tears , but it's one of those parts of us ..now it's happiness , I believe it will seem a short time ...longer for some of us as we continue to live more of those different lifetimes...love you Trisha and I'm glad we laughed together .

“ Beautiful...inside as well as her physical beauty, defines Trish, to me. So warm and so loving, she welcomed my son and I into her "tribe" with the same love she showered on her very own...
Heaven now has another angel... I know she will be watching over all of us!
We will miss you dearly!

“ When I was about 6, Trisha and Sandy were babysitting me, Dallana, Linda, and Tommy in Pampa while our moms all went shopping. Trish saw a centipede on the big tree in the front yard. She went into 'Trisha' mode and rushed us all inside in a panic, shut the door and locked it, and she and Sandy started pushing all the furniture up against the door, exclaiming the whole time 'We have to protect these kids from the centipede.' Of course, her re-action sent all of us littler ones into hysteria!! I have never forgotten that. Loved your Moma, my cousin. My thoughts and prayers are w/ you all.

“ I'm so sorry to hear that Miss Texas has left us here on earth. she was such a remarkable lady. Very FIRST CLASS all the way. We became friends during Hurricane Andrew and have remained friends ever since. she will truly be missed by me and my family. All of you know, that I loved her like she was my moma too.

“ Trisha was the cousin who brought joy to all things. Her laughter was contagious! YOU couldn't help but find happiness when you were around her. She took charge and got things done, we called her our "bossy" cousin! LOL and she LOVED that role! She was an amazing woman and I'll miss that wonderful laugh!
