

Billy Gilbreath

June 16, 1936 - July 9, 2012

Mr. Billy Roy Gilbreath, passed away July 9, 2012. Beloved husband, father, grandfather, brother and friend.

Funeral Services: Graveside Funeral with Military Honors, 10:00 AM Tuesday, July 17, 2012, at Dallas Fort Worth National Cemetery, 2000 Mountain Creek Parkway, Dallas, Texas.

In lieu of flowers, memorials would be appreciated to the Texas Kidney Foundation at: txkidney.org

Tribute Wall

JL

“ My thoughts and prayers are with you Jimmy during this difficult time.

Jim Levandowski - July 16, 2012 at 06:39 AM

BG

“ My Dad always wanted me to get a college degree despite my hearing problem. He encourage me to do my best in college and enjoy the moment. Well, here I am with two Master's Degrees and working in Higher Education. Thanks Dad for encouraging me to reach higher.

Bill Gilbreath - July 11, 2012 at 10:46 PM

Jl

“ My Dad ALWAYS wanted to be a State Trooper.....(but, he never got accepted because of his poor eyesight).....So, I became one for him (Indiana State Police). One time, I had Dad ride with me for a day shift. Pretty boring day, until I clocked a vehicle at 109 mph- thus, gave chase! After the stop, Dad communicated his love for me and questioned "why in the world he would've ever wanted to do this job?" Then stated, "Jimmy maybe you can do something safer as a career." Love my Dad and will miss him dearly. Jimmy

Jimmy - July 10, 2012 at 05:17 PM