“ Hi Granny!

*I know that now you are probably dancing in heaven with Paw. I miss both of you very much! I love you!
I will be strong because of all of the stength that you have given me throughout all the years you were with me. I know you are still with me today because you are watching over all of us. Logan wants to tell you, "Hi, and that she misses you all the time too!" Logan said, "She will be making your new flowers and bringing them to you just like Paw did." But, now we will get to visit both of you at the same time. I love you!*
