George Bryant Hill, 62, passed away peacefully Feb. 9, 2012, with his family by his side in Ft. Worth, Texas.

George was born August 8, 1949, in Dallas, Texas, to Bernie and Dorothy Bernelis Hill. He graduated from Woodrow Wilson High School in 1968.

After high school, George joined the United States Marine Corps. Soon after, he was sent to Viet Nam where he was wounded in action, for which he earned two Purple Hearts. George worked for 20 years as a Real Estate Appraiser, retiring from Landsafe Appraisal in September, 2008.

George was a mentor and advisor to his family and friends. He especially loved being with family, coaching and watching his boys play sports, cheering on the LONGHORNS to national championships, listening to golden oldies, visiting Austin and munching out on the OT special at Dirty Martin's.

George is survived by his loving wife of 29 years, Marsha; his sons Jason, Travis, Jared (Jessica) and Dalton; sister Sandy; brother-in-laws Roger (Albina) and Wesley (Becky); mother-in-law Martha; and many aunts, uncles, nephews, nieces, cousins and many friends.

“ My thoughts and prayers are with George's wife and children. What a devastating loss this must be for all of you to lose this wonderful husband and father. As a member of the Woodrow Wilson Class of 1968, my memories of George are as a teenager. I've often wondered where life took him. He was smart, entertaining and funny, and he got me in trouble for laughing on more than one occasion. May God be with all of you as you walk this avenue of loss and pain, and may you always cherish your wonderful memories. RIP George!
