“ i have known kirk for many years he has lived behind my dad for many years i will always miss you kirk. The one thing i will remember most is me and my girlfriend have a beagle hound her name is apple and when we first got her and brought her home everytime we would leave she would run down to kirks house and then she would scratch on the door and he would let her in and feed her and then he would call me up and say "Hey chad hows it going and i would say "good" and then i would tell him that i lost my dog then he would say "thats why im callin you to ask you if you had a beagle hound" and i would reply with "yes" and then he would say "alright we found the winner" so me and my girlfriend kim would drive down to his house and pick her up kirk sure did love our dog. He at one time asked us if we wanted to get rid of her but we couldnt let her go. We feel bad about not giving her to him but he made alot of trips over to see her she spent alot of time over there at his house than at home. We sure will miss you kirk!! We love you and we will never forget you!!

“ The last time I saw Kirk was when he suprised my husband, Craig, and I when he stopped by to see how our house remodel was going. Our home was under construction by Jerry Brown who has previously bulit Kirk's house. We had been to Kirk's house several weeks before to see his beautiful home and PLAY-Things!!!! Kirk and Craig had so many things in common--playing guitars, golf, and since we had not known Kirk that long we were so excited about getting to know him better and anticipating jam sessions with his many friends. We loved him and will miss him. It will alwasys make me smile when I remember his smiling face peeking around our door and hollering "HEY" !!! Whats going on in here????
