“ Mom I miss you so much. I never knew how much I truly loved you til you were gone. I mean I always knew I loved you with all my heart but a piece of my heart is missing now. I will miss all of our talks and me calling you with any question and you having the answer to it no matter what it was. I know your with the angels now... save a spot for me I will see you again and be in your arms! Please be my guardian angel here on earth. Your grandbabies miss you already! Love you forever mom. “ Mama: This is harder than I could have ever imagined. I feel like my heart exploded in my chest. I know it will get easier if I can think of anything else. But I think I have silently written our memoirs from birth until your death in the last 5 days. My brain won't go to sleep. I want to hold on to every last detail. How can I help the girls? I want them to be ok....Why am I the strong one? I'm not.....I will miss you always....every day...and I did need you....even though you didn't think I did. Mama, rest in forever peace....I love you.
