“ Sharing a favorite memory... Several years ago Meredith had a doctor's appointment & brought Melissa over to visit me while she was gone. After the initial questions- sister? She'll be right back. Mama? She's at work & will be home later- Melissa settled in with her puzzles and cards. After a while the phone rang & I guess I took too long with that conversation because a puzzle piece came flying towards me & all I heard was "horse"? Sure enough- puzzle piece had a picture of a horse on it. Ok, sister. I get it. I promptly hung up the phone & asked if that was better. She gave me one of her ear to ear grins & said "happy". The girl knew how to get her point across. This is how I will always picture her in my head...Happy.

“ Melissa you are already missed by many! You were very dear to your sister, I know. I remember seeing you daily when you came to her house for the day while your mom worked. You had such a sweet & smiling personality! Love for the world especially your family. I am sad that you have gone on but like your sister, happy that you are no longer plagued by disabilities nor sickness. Run, dance, laugh & soak in the beautiful place you are now! No good byes, more like see you later....

“ The word "happy" has always reminded me of Missy. Seeing her with her family and extended church family at Jones Ave. Church of God in Oak Hill, WV was always a 'happy' time for her. She is now in the happiest time of her life! She is in a body now free from pain and sickness. Family, live on with the many memories you have of time spent with her! Love you and remembering you in prayer.

“ I cant decide on my "favorite" memory of sister, there were way to many happy, happy, happy times with her. she loved mcdonald french fries. she loved hooorses:), sister was a joy to be around. i remember one time when she was living with me, my mom, and ryan, at our old house and my mom had to go run an errand and she had asked me to stay with sister for a little bit, and all i remember going through my head was oh no she's gonna throw a chair at me or yell and scream at me. but i remember that one day she did none of those, because she had her mc donald french fries:) but as soon as her momma came home it was MY MOMMAS HERE!!! sister used to always make me laugh when she just jumped for joy when she saw her momma. sister i love you and miss you always, i can just see u chompin on french fries and and goin "OH" when your so excited!:) i love you sister. 1.22.12 R.I.P. SISTER:)
