“ Although my visits with Norma were minimal, she touched my heart. I will always remember her look when she got her new "big TV". She was so surprised. After everything was assembled and ready to set in the living room, she never said a word; however, it was apparent that she wanted those baseboards cleaned before anything was set up and it was done - without anyone even giving it a thought. Her wit and ability to play 42 was always amazing to me. May her pain be no more and may she and all those she loved be at peace.

“ It was always a blast riding to lunch with Norma. We would go to Fred's for a plate lunch and cross our fingers that they would be serving squash casserole or we would go to the cafeteria for a Luann Platter of liver and onions with fried okra - ALWAYS fried okra. I always loved listening to how much Norma loved learning to type and take shorthand. She was very proud about how good she was at both and would gladly brag on herself. I am so sad she is gone. I love Norma
