“ It's amazing how much you can deduce from just a voice on a conference call. I work for AT&T in Sacramento, CA and my interaction with Paul was always by phone, email or instant message. When the Southwest region merged with my work group around two years ago, Paul Neal became the soft spoken, mild mannered, jovial and willing voice from Richardson, TX on our weekly conference calls. Paul was always willing to jump in and help with anything and everything. I had the privilege of working a special project with Paul in 2011 that required about 150 hours of work. His stellar work on the project resulted in a valuable National document that will be used for years to come. I feel so privileged to have worked with Paul and I sure wish we could've met face to face. I'm positive we would've become good friends. I will miss that kind voice and jovial demeanor that Paul brought to our call every week. I can only imagine how devastating this is for his family. My thoughts and prayers are with the Neal family.
